

Feniton Site by site assessment

This report has been produced by the Policy Planning Section of East Devon District Council and provides a critique of the proposed Built-up Area Boundary for Feniton. Criteria referred to in this document are taken from the East Devon Villages Plan Proposed Built-up Area Boundary Criteria and are shown below for ease of reference. The overarching methodology should be read for a complete picture – see Proposed criteria for revised built-up area boundaries - East Devon. An alternative approach that takes account of walking distances to services and facilities is included at the end of the document.

	Ref	Criteria	Exceptions	Commentary
General Criteria	A1	Boundaries should reflect the existing scale and core built form of the settlement and should not seek expansion to facilitate additional development.	Communities may wish to allocate specific sites to accommodate additional development through neighbourhood planning. If a neighbourhood plan is made that allocates development, that site may be included within the Built-up Area Boundary under criteria B3, although this may be at a future review of the Villages Plan, depending on the timing.	It is important that the Villages Plan is prepared in accordance with the strategy set out in the adopted local plan, which does not make provision for increased levels of development in rural settlements (rather it provides for infill development within the boundary and potential for affordable housing at the edges justified as an exception).

	Ref	Criteria	Exceptions	Commentary
	A2	Where practical, boundaries should follow clearly defined physical features such as walls, fences, hedgerows, roads and water courses.	Where buildings are set in large grounds physical features may not form the appropriate boundary, depending on the relationship with the fabric of the settlement. For example, large gardens that 'stretch out' from the main built up area may be specifically excluded despite the absence of a physical boundary feature.	It is clearly desirable for lines on maps to follow physical features that have a degree of permanence. This enables the plan to be easily read and understood by interested parties and often such features on the edge of settlements mark a change in character from built settlement to rural. However, sometimes the change in character is more gradual, for example where large gardens form a 'buffer' between the main built form of the settlement and the wider countryside. In these circumstances it may be appropriate for the BUAB not to follow physical features.
Areas to be included	B1	Built and extant planning permissions for residential and employment uses which are both physically and functionally related to the settlement.	Where planning permission has been granted as an exception to normal planning policy, including any market housing built to enable affordable housing under either the interim 'mixed market affordable housing' policy or Strategy 35 of the emerging East Devon Local Plan OR where planning permission has been granted but due to special circumstances, such as low density development to protect mature trees, exclusion is appropriate.	Where sites with permission will secure development that will fall in line with the criteria detailed in this methodology it will typically be appropriate to include them in the boundary.

	Ref	Criteria	Exceptions	Commentary
	B2	Built and extant planning permissions for community facilities, such as religious buildings, schools and community halls which are considered to be physically and functionally related to the settlement.	Where the buildings are set in extensive grounds either the grounds or the buildings and grounds may be excluded, depending upon the physical and functional relationship with the settlement.	Where buildings are physically well related to the built form of a settlement inclusion is appropriate. However, to include spacious grounds that are clearly beyond the built form of a settlement would suggest that development would be permitted in them when this is not the intention.
	B3	Site allocations identified in the development plan for residential, community or employment uses which are physically and functionally related to the settlement.	Significant areas of open space on the edge of site allocations with the countryside will not be included	If site allocations are contained in a neighbourhood plan that is Made, the Built-up Area Boundary defined in the Villages Plan will be amended when the plan is reviewed. In the interim there may be a discrepancy between the neighbourhood and villages plan.
Areas to be excluded	C1	The curtilage of any property with the capacity to extend the built form of the settlement, including large residential gardens.	Where there are small areas of land surrounded on more than two sides or predominantly surrounded by buildings that would not extend the visual appearance of the settlement, subject to detailed landscape assessment.	The definition of Built-up Area Boundaries, is about defining a group of land and buildings that together take the physical form of a settlement. It is not about including outlying land and buildings simply because they share an address or post code or including land with future development potential.
	C2	Recreational or amenity space at the edge of settlements which has a predominantly open visual character.	Built structures, such as clubhouses, may be included where they 'read' as being part of the built form of the village.

	Ref	Criteria	Exceptions	Commentary
	C3	Isolated development which is physically or visually detached from the settlement (including farm buildings or renewable energy installations).	There is no expectation of there being exceptions.
	C4	Parts of settlements that might comprise of groups of houses or buildings but which are separated by fields or open space from the main core of the village.	The only exception would apply where an outlying area also contains a range of services and facilities which might form a core service area in its own right.

Issues Considered	The old village of Feniton lies around one kilometre to the east of new Feniton; 1km is the walking distance from the old village centre to the new village primary school along an in part narrow lane without footpaths. The old village has around 70 dwellings, mostly old and many listed, and also has a church, village hall, post office and hairdresser. However it lacks the basic facilities to meet the everyday needs of residents and it is not an easy/safe walk to new Feniton.
Recommendation with reference to criteria used to determine	Exclude	Exclude from BUAB on Criteria C3 noting that old Feniton, although a small village, does not have sufficient facilities to warrant having a BUAB in its own right.

Representation Summary	Site is well related to services and facilities.
Issues Considered	This extensive site falls on the western side of Feniton and the boundary on the plan corresponds with the boundary in previous village plan consultation submission. Whilst it is a large site it does abut parts of Feniton where there is a very clear and marked transition from the built form of the village to open countryside. Any development would extend the built form Feniton village.
Recommendation with reference to criteria used to determine	Exclude	Exclude from BUAB on Criteria A1. It should be noted that development of any part of the site would extend outward the built form of Feniton.

Application of the Alternative/Refinement of Built-up Area Boundary Definition for Feniton

As an alternative to the proposed methodology for Built-up Area Boundary, assessment was also undertaken in Feniton of walking distance and ease of walking, (especially in respect of access for the disabled/those with limited mobility and for parents/carers looking after children (for example pushing a buggy).

Feniton, for the most part, comprises of modern houses (later part of the 20th century) that are served by reasonable or good quality footpaths. The main services of the old village are grouped to the west (pub, shops and the station) and to the north-west (school, social club and sports facilities).

The village is flat though is cut through by the Exeter-Waterloo railway line with pedestrian and vehicle crossing points at the eastern and western edges. Roughly 20% of the village lies to the south of the railway and parts of this southerly area have less good pedestrian accessibility to services. Walking distances to the school, from some southerly areas of the village, exceed 800 metres and crossing the railway line via the bridge on the eastern side of the village involves use of roads with no pavements.

The parts of old Feniton that fall outside of an 800 metre walking distance are, however, quite limited and where footpaths are absent road widths are reasonable, gradients are typically gentle and vehicle numbers are quite low. On this basis, despite some areas of Feniton not being ideally located for pedestrian accessibility to facilities, it is not seen as appropriate to identify an alternative reduced Built-up Area Boundary to reflect accessibility concerns.

It should be noted that the two roads that link old Feniton to new Feniton do not provide for easy pedestrian accessibility. Whilst the number of vehicles using these roads is quite low they lack footpaths, in places they are narrow and there are some steep gradients, in one part where a road is in a deep cliff edge cutting.
