Obtaining your personal information

We are likely to have been provided with the information by you. Occasionally though we might have been provided it by a third party acting on your behalf. The personal information we are likely to have obtained is your name, address, contact details or other means by which to identify you. We may also be provided with other personal data where it is relevant to the right you are looking to exercise.

Use of your personal information

We are using your personal information for the purpose of processing any of the rights available under data protection law and on the basis of a legal obligation and / or public task (under relevant data protection law and guidance from the Information Commissioner).

Your personal information will be used by EDDC to process applications for any of the rights available and to give effect to any successful applications.

Our use of your information may include using particularly sensitive information (for example your health or medical information) and this will only be used on the basis of your consent.

Who will receive or see my personal information?

Your personal information will be available to be seen by those within the relevant service and within support services (such as the Legal Team) where necessary to carry out the purpose and will be provided to the following;

Any service where your personal data exists and is affected by or relevant to any of the rights you are exercising.

Your personal information may also be shared with the following;

Any third party organisation who we have shared your personal data with when it is relevant to do so having processed your application.

We may also share information with our Corporate Safety Officer when our staff safety is viewed as being at risk. Information may also be shared with partner agencies during safeguarding investigations and for fraud identification and prevention.

Your personal information will be stored securely within our IT system and will not be accessible to anyone else, including other services within the Council, unless detailed above.

Retention

All your personal information will be held by us only for as long as is necessary and then in accordance with any legal requirements imposed upon us and the Council's retention schedule. For more information please go to our website to view our Retention schedule

Transferring personal information outside of the EU

Your personal information will not be transferred outside the EU or to any international organisations by the Council. It should be noted that the Council has no control over those accessing its online public registers nor what someone does with any information they obtain from them.

Your rights

Whatever our use of your personal information you have the right of access to that personal information (this means confirmation that we are using your personal information, access to it as well as other detail) and the right to seek rectification if the information is inaccurate.

Because we are using your information on the basis of legal obligation and public task then you also have the following rights in respect of how we use your personal information;

Right to object and right to restrict processing.

Also, if you object to our use of your personal information and there is no overriding legitimate interest for us to continue using it or we have used your personal information unlawfully or it is no longer necessary for us to have the personal information, the right to erasure is also available to you.

Details on each of these rights and to how you exercise can be found on our website in the Your Rights pages.

Complaints

If you are dissatisfied with the way the Council has used your personal information then you may wish in the first instance to make a complaint to the Data Protection Officer. This can be done by;

Writing to: Data Protection Officer, Information and Complaints, East Devon District Council, Blackdown House, Border Road, Heathpark Industrial Estate, Honiton, EX14 1EJ.

You can also email: dataprotection@eastdevon.gov.uk or call 01395 517417.

Alternatively, or if you remain dissatisfied following your complaint to the Data Protection Officer, you may lodge a complaint with The Information Commissioner. The Information Commissioner is the UK's independent body set up to uphold information rights. The ICO can help and advise you on all matters relating to data protection.
