Subject: Planning document and housing in Budleigh

Reading some of your new planning documents the words sound fine BUT In Budleigh Salterton over the last five years many houses have been built in gardens where people have sold off the plot. These houses are neither good looking or low energy and appear to be based on greed to get money for the garden. The town has been like a building site, with houses cropping up everywhere. It clearly does not meet the words of your planning document and suggests a law of its own. Its an A numbers decrease, a town with so many A numbers Please describe how building in every garden in Budleigh Salterton is good for the local environment or for the county as a whole. A really disappointed resident.
