Dear Sir/Madam

Re: Increasing housing in Lympstone

It is outrageous, ludicrous, depressing and idiotic to suggest hundreds more houses here. It is obvious planners and others in positions of power have not thought this through and the results of it all; i.e. more flooding, breakdown of essential infrastructure like sewers, hospitals, GP surgeries etc. Only a few days ago on the local regional news, Bournemouth Health Centre stated they were near breaking point as are the schools. Everywhere is saturated.

Development should be constructed on BROWNFIELD sites NOT greenfields where we should be growing our own food and encouraging wildlife. Britain is the most water deficit country in the world. In addition CLIMATE CHANGE has to be considered. Reality and common sense would not come amiss.

This country is already grossly overcrowded. (Why the ever increasing double yellow lines and restrictions if this is not so?) Land is a diminishing commodity with coastal erosion. Quality of life for ordinary people is plummeting and has done so for a long time now.

Yours very anxiously
