Dear Sir/Madam

I am writing to complain about the new housing proposals in Broadclyst.

The roads in Broadclyst are very narrow and in places dangerous for, walkers, children, cyclists and drivers.

Also there are not sufficient services for the existing houses, let alone additional housing.

In short, I am dismayed at the thought of more housing in a village that is on low lying land and surrounded by narrow roads.

I have recently had to wait over 2 weeks to get a face to face doctor's appointment and can only imagine how much more difficult it will be if the new houses built.

Yours faithfully

Maureen Pendry
