Policy AR02 has been significantly amended and extended to include wider water matters.

We note the further text with the policy regarding the provision of water services which is unnecessary given the statutory duty on water companies to provide connection and manage pollution. Water companies are responsible for providing sufficient water infrastructure for new development and receive significant funding as a consequence from the housebuilding industry.

It is for Local Planning Authorities to ensure that water companies are held to account rather than block and/or delay necessary and planned development. Holding the development industry to ransom over matters that they have no direct control will simply lead to the delay of sustainable development and continued unmet needs. It is not for the planning system or the development industry to address the systemic failures of regulatory regimes. Unnecessary delay in the delivery of much needed housing and other development will render the Plan ineffective.

The revised policy text continues to identify that all new dwellings should achieve the Optional Technical Housing Standard of 110 litres per day per person for water efficiency and makes this stronger in terms of requirement by adding the words "at least".

We previously criticised this approach for being unjustified as the only evidence underpinning the approach was an unpublished (at that time) Water Cycle Study. This could therefore not be considered sufficient evidence to set additional standards and the PPG is clear that such an approach must be justified by clear evidence. Furthermore, the Written Ministerial Statement in relation to the optional national technical standards is clear that they should be relied upon only where there is a clear evidenced need.

The Water Cycle Study has now been published but provides no clear evidence of the need for requiring the Optional Standard beyond a recommendation. The report confirms that East Devon is within an area of "Not Serious" water stress as defined by the Environment Agency. It also confirms that water bodies in East Devon are at "low to medium stress."

The Study then goes on to say "the Environment Agency has been in the process of consultation to update the determination of water stressed areas in England. With a greater understanding of population growth, climate change and environmental requirements since the 2013 publication, the outcomes of the consultation and subsequent determination of water stressed areas may change the classification of the level of stress affecting East Devon's water bodies" (underlining my emphasis).

This is clearly not a confirmed position and remains an uncertainty. It is clearly not a basis for introducing the Optional Standard when there is no clear evidence that water stress is a significant issue within East Devon when compared with the national picture. The published Water Cycle Study therefore fails to provide any sufficient justification for the policy approach.

The tests have not been met by the Plan's evidence base and the policy approach remains unjustified.

3 (c). Please set out the modification(s) you consider necessary to make this part of the East Devon Local Plan sound, in respect of any soundness matters you have identified at 5(b) above. You will need to say why each modification will make this part of the East Devon Local Plan sound. It will be helpful if you are able to put forward your suggested revised wording for the relevant policy or paragraph. Please be as precise as possible.

(Continue on a separate sheet if necessary)

Strategic Policy AR02 should be amended by removing Part A of the policy text given these matters fall within the statutory duties of water companies and it is unnecessary and unjustified to include these matters as a policy test.

Reference to requiring Optional Standards within Part C should be removed given it is not justified by the evidence base.
